Description of EVENT:

The final year of a graduate course is one of the most significant years in a student's academic and professional development.

Final year project is primarily integrated into the course curriculum to encourage students; working on final year project allows students to apply their academic knowledge and abilities in practice to solve real-world commercial and engineering challenges.

An important part of an undergraduate's involves choosing a BE project since it enables them to apply their theoretical understanding to real-world challenges. The main objectives to include industry professionals in the project selection process are:

- Find initiatives that fit with the expectations of the market at the time.
- Expose students to practical engineering challenges.
- Encourage academic and industrial cooperation and knowledge sharing.

Similar to this, it's crucial to obtain assistance while picking the right Project topic at first. Hence, a Major Project Selection Presentation was conducted for BE students of the IT, EXTC, Computer Engineering on the 15th of July 2023 from 9:00 am onwards in IT and EXTC, Computer Engineering laboratories respectively.

The Major Project Selection Presentations was organized by Project coordinators of all three departments under Innovation cell XIE. Industry professionals from different domains were invited to select and suggest innovative ideas for BE Projects. They provided students with insightful information, excellent recommendations and suggestions on the basis of their project topics.

Each project group presented three project ideas out of which one was selected by the selection panel, who selected the best project idea as the major BE Project.
